The most beautiful humming birds are found in the West Indies and South America. The crest of the tiny head of one of these shines like a sparkling crown of coloured light. The shades of colour that adorn its breast are equally brilliant. As the bird flits from one object to another, it looks more like a bright flash of sunlight than it does like a living being. But, you ask, why are they called humming birds? It is because they [3] F - 3682 make a soft, humming noise by the rapid motion of their wings - a motion so rapid, that as they fly, you can hardly see that they have wings. One day when walking in the woods, I found the nest of one of the smallest humming birds. It was about half the size of a very small hen and lays egg, and it was attached to a twig no thicker than a steel knitting needle. It seemed to have been made of cotton fibers and was covered with the softest bits of leaf and bark. It had two eggs in it, and each was about as large as a small sugarplum. When you approach the spot where one of these birds has built its nest, it is necessary to be careful. The mother bird will dart at you and try to peck your eyes. Its sharp beak may hurt your eyes most severely and even destroy your sight.

(A) Read the passage carefully and answer the following questions: 5
Curiosity is certainly the best incentive for travel, and especially for a trip to India. Whether you class yourself as a tourist or traveller, anyone visiting India should approach his tour by borrowing a little from Indian philosophy. India is a special place, its people have a special conception of life that is totally different from anything else in the world. It is this difference that compels people to visit this country, a curiosity to try and understand what is this sub-continent to explore a country that is two-thirds the size of Europe excluding Russia.

Questions:

- (i) Why is curiosity the best incentive?
- (ii) How should anyone visiting India approach his tour?
- (iii) What type of conception do the people of India have?
- (iv) How big is India compared to Europe if Russia is excluded from it?

2. A. Read the passage carefully and then answer the following questions: 5

The most beautiful humming birds are found in the West Indies and South America. The crest of the tiny head of one of these shines like a sparkling crown of coloured light. The shades of colour that adorn its breast are equally brilliant. As the bird flits from one object to another, it looks more like a bright flash of sunlight than it does like a living being. But, you ask, why are they called humming birds? It is because they [3] F - 3682 make a soft, humming noise by the rapid motion of their wings - a motion so rapid, that as they fly, you can hardly see that they have wings. One day when walking in the woods, I found the nest of one of the smallest humming birds. It was about half the size of a very small hen and lays egg, and it was attached to a twig no thicker than a steel knitting needle. It seemed to have been made of cotton fibers and was covered with the softest bits of leaf and bark. It had two eggs in it, and each was about as large as a small sugarplum. When you approach the spot where one of these birds has built its nest, it is necessary to be careful. The mother bird will dart at you and try to peck your eyes. Its sharp beak may hurt your eyes most severely and even destroy your sight.

- 1. What does the head of a humming bird look like?
 - 2. Why are these birds called 'Humming Birds'?
 - 3. With what material the humming bird makes its nest?
 - 4. Why does one cannot see the wings of a humming bird?
